

PROBLEM: How do I find out if the Library subscribes to this journal?

SOLUTION: Use the FIND JOURNALS Tab on the Library Webpage!

Use this tool if:

- You printed/copied the citation for the article you want, and/or...
- You need to locate an article from a specific journal but don't know if we own it

Minimum requirements to make this work

1. The exact name of the journal
2. OPTIONAL BUT HELPFUL: the title, author, date and volume number of an article

DO THIS

1. Click FIND JOURNALS TAB from our website [http://lib.newpaltz.edu], then
2. TYPE IN the name of the journal, and click SEARCH

3. LOOK to see if your journal appears in the results (example below). If you're looking for a specific article, look for the date range you need. Then
4. CLICK on the database name next to the date. You'll link into that database, and you'll be able to search or browse for your specific article

If we own a print subscription to the journal, a link to the catalog appears
